If every garda had an ipad /tablet and every report/incident was entered on the spot, in which the tablet would create an automatic incident/ pulse number.

The garda should take the email address of the recipient and once report has been signed off by all parties, it would be sent to the various email address The garda on duty, the plaintiff and the GRA. This way the report could not be tampered with.

It would save 100's of thousands of man hours per year.
