Title of Submission:	Truth and honesty
Comments:	Truth and honesty should be an integral part of policing in Ireland but recent events prove otherwise. The closure of rural garda stations has proven to be a major problem. Rural crime has escalated especially in isolated and farming areas. Technology and CCTV could be and should be used extensively to combat rural crime. The issue of political interference in policing has been with us for decades and needs to be addressed. Maurice McCabe has proven to be the only person who should be considered for commissioner.
